Kenmore® Smart Laundry Appliances and Dishwashers Are Now Integrated with Amazon Dash Replenishment

Kenmore dishwashers and laundry appliances can now automatically reorder essentials like dishwasher pods, dryer sheets, and laundry detergent before running out

HOFFMAN ESTATES, Ill., April 4, 2019 -- The Kenmore brand announced today an expansion of its line-up of smart appliances integrated with Amazon Dash Replenishment. Kenmore smart laundry appliances and dishwashers can now automatically reorder goods from Amazon the moment more are needed.

In 2018, the brand integrated all smart refrigerators with Dash Replenishment so customers can automatically reorder water and air filters when they need replacing. Today, Kenmore is adding Dash Replenishment to a select number of Kenmore's smart washers, dryers and dishwashers. Customers may now opt to have laundry detergent, dishwasher pods, rinse aid or dryer sheets reordered automatically on Amazon.com when they need replacing.

"Our customers rely on our appliances to help make their busy lives more convenient," said Peter Boutros, president of Kenmore, Craftsman and DieHard brands and chief brand officer of Sears and Kmart. "Extending Amazon Dash Replenishment to key Kenmore dishwasher and laundry products helps deliver on that promise."

To set up Dash Replenishment with the enabled assortment of Kenmore smart washers, dryers and dishwashers – all of which also work with Alexa – owners will activate the service through their Kenmore Smart App using their Amazon account. They'll then select the laundry detergent, dishwasher pods, rinse aid or dryer sheets they want to automatically reorder. Dash Replenishment helps eliminate the dreaded realization of, "I ran out of it."

"We are excited to team up with Kenmore and continue expanding the availability of Kenmore appliances integrated with Dash Replenishment," said David Jackson, general manager, Amazon Dash. "More and more customers are seeing the convenience Dash Replenishment offers—you don't have to think about keeping track of household essentials or worry about running out. With Dash Replenishment, connected appliances can take care of the work and automatically place an order when supplies are needed—Amazon takes care of the rest."
